Fingerprints of Grace
Gen. 9:8-17; Psalm 104

Creation is a canvas upon which God's grace is continually displayed. Every sunrise, rainfall, mountain vista, and blooming flower bear the traces of a Creator who delights in blessing His world and drawing people toward himself.

1. What was one key takeaway or lesson from last week's study? Why is it meaningful for you?

EXPLORE

Read Genesis 9:8-17 (The message only dealt with Gen 9, but if time permits, or as a devotional for the week, read Psalm 104, which reinforces the promise of God's continuing care of his creation)

2. How is grace typically defined, and why is it so difficult for us to be graceful towards others and even to ourselves?
3. What does Genesis 9:8-17 reveal about God's character? What words or ideas communicate grace?

4. Define covenant and why is it significant in the context of the flood narrative? What does this teach us about God's response to all that he has created?
5. How is grace different from simply overlooking wrongdoing? Why is it important that grace and judgment are not opposites? (Is it true to say that God's grace is boundless in depth, but it does have a time limit?)
6. What were the 4 Fingerprints of Grace presented in the message? Expand on each.
 - a. Grace is God's _____.
 - b. Grace does not deny _____.
 - c. Grace gives the _____ a _____.
 - d. Grace keeps God's _____ moving _____.
7. After this lesson, do you look at rainbows differently?
8. Is there anything additional that you would like to add or discuss?

Respond

1. If you walked through your week looking specifically for the fingerprints of God's grace, where might you expect to find them?

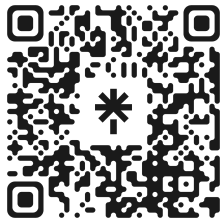

Next Week – Part 7

Love Made Visible
John 1:1-14; Col. 1:15-20

The revelation of God's love is not only displayed by his creation and those made in his image but is visible in the coming of the divine Son of God.

Series Summary

In this series, we'll explore how the world around us points beyond itself to the God who made it. From the vastness of the galaxies to the complexity of life itself, creation reveals not only God's power and wisdom but also the depth of His love for us.

Together, we'll discover that the fingerprints of God are everywhere and etched into the beauty of nature, woven into the story of humanity, and ultimately revealed in His desire to know us and be known by us. As we journey through Scripture, we'll see that we are not accidents of chance, but beloved creations, carefully formed by the hands of a loving Creator.
